

Tabling Checklist

Whether you're a tabling virgin or the guru of all things tabled, go over this checklist each and every time you table. You may not have everything on the list, but if you can take it along, then you definitely want to.

Petitions

Petitions are the most important item, because they are how you will keep people updated once they've left your table. They can be found for download at peta2.com/College.

Materials (leaflets, stickers, posters)

E-mail College@peta2.com if you need literature, but don't wait until the last minute. It takes us a week or more to get stuff shipped.

Friend

You weren't planning on tabling by yourself, were you? Who'd watch the table while you walked around the student center getting signups or went to the bathroom?

peta2 T-shirt

If you're too broke to buy one, download one of our online stencils and make your own!

DVDs

We can send some of these out, or you can download our videos from peta2.com and play them on your laptop!

Pens

No pens means no signups, and that's bad!

Clipboards

Clipboards allow you to walk around the campus and down the line getting signups.

Clear tape

For putting up posters in a visible place in front of or behind the table.

Rubber bands

Rubber bands are very important for outdoor events and shows. High winds kill the perfect table—you need something to keep the leaflets from blowing away.

Table

Check with the school to borrow one.

Laptop or DVD player

For showing undercover investigations and other videos to raise awareness.

"Meet Your Meat" loop

If you have a DVD player to take, we'll gladly send you a looped copy of the video.

Extension cord and powerstrip

Laptops don't charge themselves.

Bottled water

You don't want to have to leave the table unattended when you get thirsty.

A BIG smile

It's important to be super, super friendly to everyone. Thank everyone for everything. Don't give people an excuse to dismiss animal rights—that's the last thing animals need. Plus, tabling is fun, so why wouldn't you smile?
