fur is dead

Millions of animals are killed for their fur every year. Most spend their entire miserable lives on fur farms, standing on cage bottoms made of thin wire and never having a chance to jump, dig, play, or do anything else that's important to them. Many are killed by having their necks broken or their skulls beaten in, and others are killed through anal or vaginal electrocution. Sign this petition to stop the killing of millions of animals, and proudly pledge to be fur-free!
