SAVE #99

He doesn't even have a name. Instead, he's identified by the I.D. number tattooed across his chest: #99. He is one of hundreds abducted from their homes and used to test a mysterious, experimental substance in a laboratory in Vienna, Virginia. He is the smallest and sickliest in the experiment. He is pale, thin, and nearly bald, and his now-yellow skin flakes off at the slightest touch. He has trouble breathing because of thick scabs in his nostrils from tubes being rammed up his nose and down into his stomach. He is denied any treatment or painkillers for his injuries, and he suffers frequent beatings and other abuse—in addition to the horrifying experiment. Yes, this is really happening. You can help save #99 by signing this petition to the government demanding a ban on the use of primates in experimentation.

| Name | E-Mail Address |
|---|---|
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |
| | |

peta2.com BY SIGNING THIS, I RECOGNIZE THAT I MAY RECEIVE AN E-MAIL MESSAGE FROM PETA2